From your SECU Board Chair

By design, State Employees' Credit Union was created to be a difference maker in the financial services industry. It was formed as a not-for-profit cooperative in 1937 to give North Carolina's state employees and their families a better option at a time when so many of them were being taken advantage of by dishonest lenders. Those who joined weren't customers, they were member-owners who came together to help each other – the embodiment of the Credit Union philosophy of People Helping People®.

From the very beginning, the SECU difference was tangible – the value, the service, the community, and the feeling of being part of something that was working for the greater good of all. The history of our organization is rich, not just because of how it started, but also because the SECU difference is as evident today as it was 88 years ago. That philosophy still grounds us, and the original model of service continues to allow us to be that valued, trusted financial services provider for our more than 2.9 million members.

Having been a member for nearly 30 years, I have experienced the SECU difference personally, with products and services that have impacted my life and the lives of family, friends, and co-workers in a very positive way. I've watched SECU grow and expand its offerings, its accessibility, and its community impact for the people of our state. In 2016, I had the honor of becoming a member of the SECU Corporate and SECU Foundation Boards. Through this volunteer service, I have been given a more expanded view of that difference, which has been humbling and incredibly inspiring.

My fellow Board members and I have had opportunities to engage with members at events across the state and hear how SECU is making a difference in their lives, helping them gain their financial footing and the confidence to pursue goals that were once thought to be unattainable. We have also represented SECU and the member-funded SECU Foundation at groundbreakings, check presentations, and grand openings, and it's been heartwarming to see the work being done that is uplifting our communities and so many North Carolinians in need.

When Hurricane Helene hit our state in the fall of 2024, the devastation was indescribable, especially for Western North Carolina. In the true spirit of People Helping People, our Credit Union family joined together, taking swift action to help those impacted. Our staff worked tirelessly to assist members with their financial needs and support each other. Truckloads of donations were collected at our branches and distributed to non-profits providing disaster relief services. Many Credit Union representatives gave and continue to give generously of their time to volunteer with organizations – helping to sort through donations, prepare care packages, assist with building repairs, and more. The SECU Foundation Board also approved three phases of Hurricane Helene disaster relief grant funding totaling nearly $9 million for twelve non-profits providing immediate and long-term supportive services. These efforts put the Credit Union philosophy into action in the most profound ways.

At SECU, we are dedicated to our mission of improving the lives and financial well-being of our members, and we want the 'SECU Difference' to come to life in all that we do. We continue to evaluate our products and services and work to improve our offerings to ensure we are adding value and meeting the needs of our membership. Over the past year, we launched our rewards credit card program, added a discount loan program for current and retired state employees, and enhanced member service delivery channels with a new mortgage servicing system, interactive voice response, and upgrades to our network of ATMs. In 2026, will we debut a new digital platform for Member Access and the SECU Mobile App. I am excited about the work that is being done and what has been accomplished for our members and communities over the past year. I encourage you to read more about this in the pages of our 2025 Annual Report.

On behalf of our Board of Directors, thank you to SECU's 8,000+ employees and 3,000 volunteers who serve and advocate for our entire membership. And thank you to our more than 2.9 million members who call SECU their financial home. We are driven by what matters to you, and we appreciate your support as we continue to work to make a positive difference for you and your families!

Sincerely,

Mona M. Moon
Chair, SECU Board of Directors

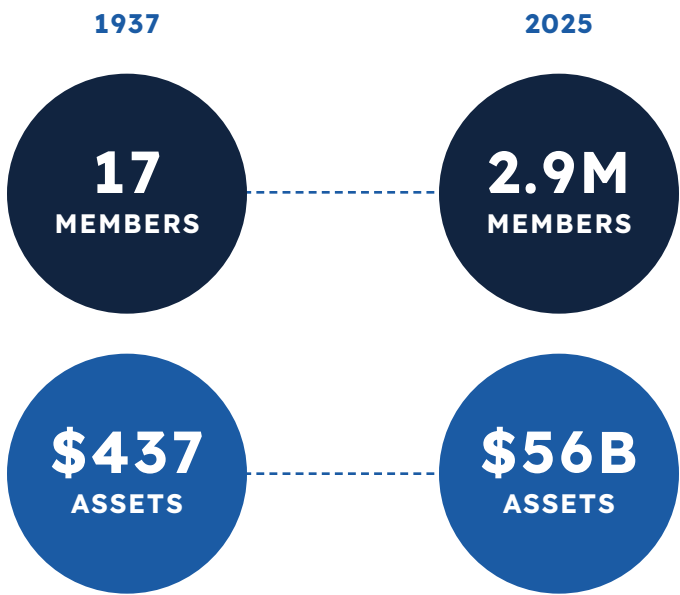

Different from the start

State Employees’ Credit Union (SECU) doesn’t operate like most financial institutions; we’re purposefully different. We’re owned by members and built for members. It’s not about profits that pad the pockets of a few shareholders, it’s a cooperative where members get more value at less cost, keeping more of what’s theirs.

It’s not a new concept for SECU, it’s been our model of service from the start. It began 88 years ago when 17 individuals set out to give North Carolina’s state employees and their families a better financial choice – a place where they could pool their resources together to save and borrow money at fair and equitable rates for all.

Over the years, SECU has worked to build upon our values of affordability, accessibility, stability, and exceptional member service, allowing us to meet the changing needs of our membership, now 2.9 million strong, while staying true to our mission and the philosophy of People Helping People®.

To our valued member-owners, what began in 1937 continues today because it’s always been about you!

The value of membership

How do we define what the SECU difference means for members? It’s not just one thing – it’s all the things that give members the financial tools they need, the convenience they want, and the service they deserve. Membership supports the whole family. From youth accounts to retirement planning, members have the tools to grow their savings, their financial confidence, and their peace of mind. Our commitment to affordability means we provide more value at less cost with affordable products and services, so they keep more of what they’ve earned. With a member-owned cooperative, competitive rates and fees aren’t just a perk – they’re the point.

When it comes to fees, SECU continues to rank as one of the lowest in the country among credit union peers. Our competitive rates, low fees, and personalized support have helped SECU become North Carolina’s number one real estate lender per the Home Mortgage Disclosure Act (HMDA) 2024 data. We are grateful that we can help so many members realize the dream of home ownership.

We continue to look for ways to bring even greater value for members as we add more products and programs. Two such additions were rewards credit cards with options to earn cash back or accumulate points that can be redeemed for gift cards, merchandise, or travel and a discount loan program that offers a 0.50% discount for qualifying current and retired state of North Carolina employees on auto and closed-end consumer loans.

To assist members with their comprehensive financial plan, the Credit Union also offers a diversified line of Financial Advisory Services, including retirement and education planning, insurance, trust and estate planning, and investments through our affiliated entities. Our 750 Accredited Financial Counselors® provide personalized guidance to help members make sound financial decisions, and we offer a variety of resources and tools to help members better understand and manage their finances.

The trusted relationships built with our members are foundational to our cooperative success – when members succeed, the Credit Union succeeds.

Anthony Barton became a member of SECU 18 years ago through the benefit of family membership. He had recently married and learned about the Credit Union through his mother-in-law. Just starting out, money was tight and SECU’s low-cost financial services provided the value he and his wife needed, especially as he was navigating work and school in pursuit of a degree in education.

Those low and no-fee services continued to benefit his family as he became an educator in the public school system. Anthony was especially pleased to have a branch close by in Pembroke. He got to know the staff and felt comfortable reaching out for financial guidance. Recently, he was looking to consolidate debt to give him some breathing room to pursue other financial goals. A trip to his local branch resulted in a solution that gave him just what he was looking for and more.

“I cannot say enough good things about the staff at the Pembroke Branch of the State Employees’ Credit Union. They went above and beyond to help me consolidate my personal loan and open line of credit into a single debt consolidation loan with a lower interest rate. Thanks to their guidance and expertise, I am now saving over $700 a month!

This has made a tremendous difference in my financial well-being, giving me peace of mind and allowing me to focus on other important goals. Brittany and Beatrice were professional, kind, and truly had my best interest at heart throughout the entire process. I highly recommend the Pembroke SECU Branch to anyone looking for financial solutions that work. Their dedication to their members is unmatched, and I am grateful for their support.”

Barton believes that SECU is very different from other financial institutions noting, “As a not-for-profit, they really do work to do what is best for the members. SECU does not use a one size fits all approach and I like that. I would describe SECU as a family of people working together to put the financial needs of its members first.”

He also appreciates that members have the opportunity to serve on local branch Advisory Boards, helping to advocate for fellow members and for SECU in the community. He was asked to join the Pembroke Branch Advisory Board and was happy to serve his Credit Union.

“In my position as a school principal, I come in contact with community members daily. I can share with others about the benefits of SECU, hear member concerns, and bring information back to the Advisory Board and branch staff. Through my SECU service, I have become more aware of the work that is done and the impact SECU has on the community, especially through SECU Foundation.”

Access that’s never far away

*Raleigh-Village District Branch opening,
North Carolina*

SECU is proud to call North Carolina home. The work that began in the basement of the Agriculture Building in Raleigh in 1937 has grown to 275 branches, giving members in all 100 North Carolina counties local service from people they know and trust in our big cities and small towns. To increase that localized service, we have nearly 1,100 CashPoints® ATMs positioned across the state providing convenient access for members’ day-to-day activities and their extended travels from the mountains to the coast. To enhance those valued service channels, we renovated numerous SECU branches this past year, with more underway, and we are in the process of upgrading our fleet of ATMs for optimal performance.

Regardless of how members wish to connect with SECU, they can enjoy the freedom to manage their money with ease and assurance that help is never far away!

With one in four North Carolinians making SECU their financial home, offering that hometown service is important to us. It's also a priority to ensure that SECU accessibility extends well beyond the borders of our state. With 24/7 Member Services Support via phone, our dedicated Lending and Financial Advisory Services Contact Centers, and ASK-SECU Voice Response, personal service is as close as a phone or mobile device. With our website, www.ncsecu.org, and the SECU Mobile App, our digital footprint is wherever our members are – in the United States or across the globe.

The use of our digital channels continues to rise as online Member Access sessions surged to more than 798 million, an increase of 111 million over the past fiscal year. Over two million members actively use this channel for secure account management.

We also continued to improve upon these service channels with the implementation of a new mortgage servicing system, as well as the addition of interactive voice response (IVR) for our ASK SECU and Contact Center platforms. The IVR enhancements have improved language capabilities while also enabling voice biometric authentication, making it easier and more secure to do business with us.

Safe, sound, and fiscally responsible

Affordability and accessibility are a path to financial stability for our members and our Credit Union. Providing great value and convenience to support members' financial needs has allowed for continued growth in membership and a financially strong balance sheet.

As reflected in the audited fiscal year financials, available at www.ncsecu.org, SECU is safe, sound, and well-positioned for the future. We would like to take an opportunity to mention a few key highlights here.

In the past year, SECU welcomed nearly 175,000 new members and is on the cusp of reaching the three million mark! We are thrilled to see so many joining our Credit Union family and enjoying the benefits of membership. Assets remained strong at $56 billion, while deposits increased by more than $4 billion, with many members taking advantage of SECU's favorable Money Market Share Account and Share Term Certificate rates.

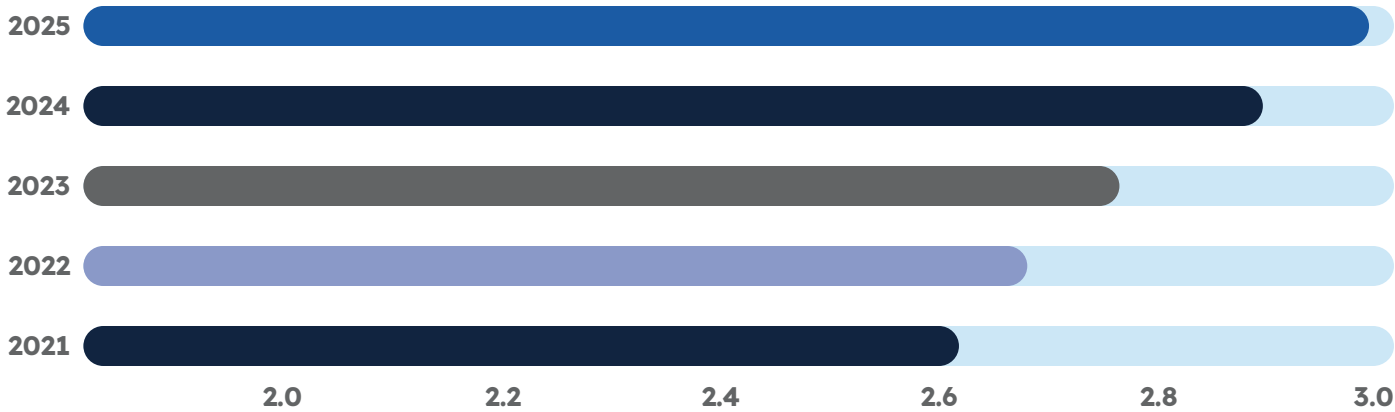

Downtown Raleigh, North Carolina

There was also steady growth across SECU’s loan portfolio, demonstrating the value provided to members through our competitive lending options. SECU’s new rewards credit cards – one of our most requested products – launched in March 2025. In just a few short months, new credit card accounts increased 127% with $165 million in new credit lines established. The new Cash Rewards Visa® Credit Card is leading the pack in popularity, and balance transfers have more than doubled as members are seeing the value.

Being fiscally responsible starts with being good stewards of members’ money, and the diligent work of staff to keep expenses below budget is reflected in overall earnings and growth. We are also pleased to report that SECU received clean financial audits and positive regulatory exams, further demonstrating our organizational safety, soundness, and fiscal responsibility.

Making a difference for our communities

Keep North Carolina Beautiful event in Gastonia, North Carolina

- Hosted the Annual Toy Drive to spread joy to thousands of North Carolina children and families during the holiday season,
- Held statewide Shred Day events to help area residents with free document disposal,
- Participated in a wide range of community involvement efforts including blood drives, litter clean-ups, Habitat for Humanity® building projects, Special Olympics events, and walks to support non-profits such as March of Dimes® and the American Heart Association®.

Hurricane Helene relief drive for Western North Carolina

When Hurricane Helene hit our state in September 2024, SECU quickly responded with help, providing financial assistance through our member service channels and collecting supplies in branches across the state to benefit our Western North Carolina communities. Many SECU employees, Board members, and Advisory Board members also donated time to non-profits supporting disaster relief efforts. SECU employees gave over $40,000 to help impacted co-workers get back on their feet. In the wake of the destruction, the member-funded SECU Foundation also took swift action as the Foundation Board approved nearly $9 million for three phases of disaster relief funding to help Western North Carolina recover and rebuild.

EDUCATION

SECU Foundation was established in 2004 by State Employees' Credit Union's Board of Directors to help identify and address community issues beyond the normal scope of our cooperative. It is funded by SECU members who maintain an active checking account and choose to contribute to the Foundation through the reallocation of their $1 monthly maintenance fee. For more than 20 years, SECU Foundation has been strategically empowering communities throughout North Carolina with impactful initiatives focused on education, housing, healthcare, and human services. To date, over $328 million has been committed for scholarships, grants, and financing to benefit the people of our state.

HOUSING

HUMAN SERVICES

Shaping what we do

As a member-owned cooperative, we use feedback from our members to help guide our direction and shape what we do. We listen and gather information in a variety of ways, including surveys, always-on digital channels, engagement events, through our member-volunteers serving on Advisory Boards and Board committees, and when members contact us directly.

This past fiscal year, we had a record breaking 31,744 responses to our annual Member Survey – that’s a 90% increase from the prior survey! The overall result is measured as a Net Promoter Score (NPS). An NPS score of 30+ is good, 50+ is excellent, and 70+ is considered world-class. We are pleased to share that the SECU NPS score was just over 79. These surveys help us gain even greater insight into member needs and priorities and help to inform our priorities as well.

Through our 24/7 digital and Contact Center channels, members also share immediate feedback about their service and overall experience. The responses are valuable in determining what is working well and where improvements may be needed.

Engagement through our statewide network of branches will always be key to building upon those trusted relationships with our members and others in our communities. Those personal conversations truly guide our work and help us serve members better. To expand that member engagement, SECU hosted MemberConnects events throughout the past year, giving us more opportunities to share information with and hear directly from members.

Another key resource for SECU is our 3,000 member volunteers. Each SECU branch has an Advisory Board composed of up to 12 volunteers who serve as an important link to connect our membership with our staff and Board of Directors. Advisory Boards meet quarterly to receive organization updates and provide valuable feedback to help SECU best meet the needs of members.

Our Board of Directors is the governing body of SECU responsible for establishing policy and determining the general direction and control of the Credit Union. As part of their duties, Board members serve on several Board committees, each tasked with overseeing different areas of the organization, including audit, risk, governance, nominating, member relations, and IT governance.

Our dedicated volunteers are another excellent example of the SECU difference. They serve without compensation, provide representation and advocacy for all members, and give generously of their time to serve their Credit Union and fellow members. We are deeply grateful for their service!
